2003 WSSA CONFERENCE

The 66th annual conference was held on June 3rd, 4th and 5th, 2003 at the Ho-Chunk Casino and Conference Center which is located between Baraboo and Wisconsin Dells. A total of 159 people attended the conference that included 129 full conference attendees, 18 one-day attendees and 12 for ethics and boundaries only. Even though attendance was down this year we are very excited that 43 people were attending for the first time. This means we are doing a good job of promoting WSSA and the wonderful training this organization can provide at a reasonable cost.

Leading off the conference was Alan Cohen with "Why Your Life Sucks (and what can you do about it)." He also did two workshops that were very well attended and gave us many tools to use in our personal and professional lives. Encore! Studio for the Performing Arts entertained and educated us at the Past Presidents' Luncheon. This is a non-profit organization whose mission is to offer a professional path to the performing arts for people with disabilities. They performed "Look Closer" and "Not Stubborn...Not Strong-Willed" which were both outstanding. They mix together humor, singing and acting with a message that is very powerful. And to wrap things up was Tim Gard, a WSSA favorite, with "Can I Say That At Work." Tim promotes participation with giving away little gifts and leaves everyone feeling better about themselves and their job. The way he uses humor to get across important messages is amazing. We also had 28 different sessions that people attended which touched on every aspect of the human/social service field.

We continued the tradition of adding a little incentive for participation at conference with giving away many donated items. We held a "poker run" which entailed getting signatures from eight of the 13 vendors and turning your sheet in to get a poker hand. Approximately 20 gifts were given for the best hands. Everyone that attended a session was able to grab a chip out of the bucket and these were used to purchase items at the auction held Friday morning with Tim Gard being the auctioneer. He really helped make this a successful event.

Wrap-up Speaker:
Tim Gard, CSP, Comic
Visions, LLC, Denver, CO

The evaluations were all very positive and we truly appreciate those who took the time to fill them out. We are always looking for new ideas and suggestions are very welcome. The 2004 Conference Planning Committee will be starting soon to work on next year's conference and would love to hear your ideas. Please contact co-chairs, Holly Jackson at (715) 836-1028 or e-mail at jacksonhm@voyager.net and/or Fred Baewer at (608) 297-9136, ext. 238 or e-mail at fbraewer@co.marquette.wi.us.

President's Message

Where do I begin? Let me start by welcoming all of you to a new and unpredictable year for WSSA. New, in the fact that it is my privilege to begin representing this organization as its President for the next year. Unpredictable, due to the current fiscal uncertainties.

I do not want to say that this will be the biggest and best year ever for WSSA, as I would not want to give an unfavorable impression of past years. What I would like is for everyone who is a member this year to be able to say that his or her membership was worthwhile. By worthwhile I mean that everyone has been able to take something back to his or her job and apply that something to the work that they do. Each year that I am a member of WSSA, I feel that I get out of the organization only as much as I am

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Members have spoken and the Executive Committee has listened. Several members have expressed a desire for the Association to take a stance on issues that affect our membership. At our July organizational meeting, motions were brought forth and passed by the Executive Committee that we, as an Association, take a stance of displeasure with the decision to eliminate the Assistant Area Administrator positions and the decision to regulate the amount of Community Options Program funds that counties can spend on the various target groups that are served. (Due to Governor's veto on 7/24/03 concerning the AAA positions, the letter to the Governor expressed the Association support of this veto.)

Our hope is that by expressing our opinions on these issues we as an organization that represents workers who deal with these issues every day, can make a difference for these workers and the people they work with.

Contact any Executive committee member (listed below) with issues and/or concerns you may have. Individuals are welcome to attend any of our meetings and can present issues that affect them.

PAST PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

I contacted WSSA Past Presidents asking if they would like to contribute to a "Past Presidents' Column." If you are a Past President, and did not receive a letter from me, it is because I do not have a current address for you. I would appreciate hearing from you. If you received a letter but did not respond, please do so anytime! I hope to hear from more Past Presidents for the next issue! Thanks to all who respond!

Jaci Fuller, N9120 East Island Phillips, WI 54555, e-mail: tnj51058@pctnet.net. Phone: (715) 332-5563

On the following pages are the responses I have received thus far:

When I first joined WSSA 18 years ago, we had a lot of members. The committees were all full to the max of committee people. We had no problems getting committees together. The district meetings were always held on time with no difficulties.

As time went by, so did the members. One after another, people were dropping out. Committees got smaller and district meetings were fewer. What happened, you say? Well, by the time I became President for 2000/2001, we got budget scares. Things took for the worse. Some people blamed the counties not sending them. No money to be used for meetings. Others just lost interest.

That last statement are the most bothersome words I have heard. How can you lose interest in an organization if you never get involved? We have committee members who use their own time, their own money and, yes, their own mileage. Other words I have heard is that it's too clique. If all these things are true, then shame on us. But my own feelings are that people just don't want to get involved with an organization that could help your jobs and in some cases, your future. We have so much to give such as scholarships and yes, friendships.

I know that we will never be as big as we once were, but I sure would like to see people come back. I would like to see new faces get involved and really build this organization up again.

So, my words to all of you – PLEASE DON'T SIT BACK, JOIN NOW AND BE PART OF THE BEST ASSOCIATION THERE IS – WSSA!

Helain Andersen

I can't believe it has been 25 years since being President of WSSA and 14 years since retiring (not consecutive years – I am NOT that old). I have forgotten more about AFDC, Food Stamps, and Medical Assistance than I ever knew.

These years have been filled with trips, camping, my puppy dogs, computerizing and other fun things. Grandchildren and even some great grandkids, compliments of my gerbil-like offspring, keep me broke and busy with birthdays, Christmas, marriages, and so on.

Considering the current events, I feel that my son, Mark, and grandson, Brandon, need special recognition. Mark just came off a tour on his Trident submarine, the USS Alabama, as First Class Petty Officer Submarine Sonar Technician. Grandson, Corporal Brandon, was just called up for the third time for duty probably in some desert. He is an MP in a guard reserve unit that was recently activated again. Previously, he was in Hungary and then Nicaragua.

The problem of some staff not being allowed time off or reimbursement for conference attendance has been a problem for many years. It will only get worse, I'm afraid.

Resides in Madison*

IN MEMORY

Bernard J. Strumbras passed away on Monday, July 21, 2003 due to injuries suffered in a fall. Mr. Strumbras had been a member of WSSA for a number of years. He served as Deputy Administrator of the Division of Economic Assistance and Assistant Administrator of the Division of Community Services.

It does not take long after leaving the field to feel really removed and “out of the loop” as far as knowing what is going on in the profession. For me, it’s almost 10 years since I retired and the system in Wisconsin has changed considerably. We get a bit of information from a friend or two who are still employed in the agency and try to follow media coverage as it is.

Other commitments have precluded much participation in WSSA in these last almost ten years. The annual conference has fallen on dates when I have had commitments here, with either the Wisconsin Gerontology Institute’s annual conference or Adventures in Lifelong Learning’s “Week of Learning”, both of which are headquartered at UW-Parkside.

Adventures in Lifelong Learning (ALL) is completing its fifth year of programming. We have two meetings a month, featuring a guest speaker on a wide variety of topics. ALL differs from most of the other Lifelong Learning Institutes in Wisconsin, and elsewhere, in that we do not focus on classes, although we do have some short-term ones. We focus on the learning aspect, rather than on social functions, but do meet new, good people we would likely not get to know otherwise. Marilyn and I have been involved in ALL since its onset, and I have agreed to be nominated as president for next year. We have about 225 members in Racine and Kenosha counties, with 75+ at most meetings. There are “focus groups” which deal with a particular subject of interest to the members, such as book discussion, horticulture, religions, etc. A special feature is our “Week of Learning” in which we look at one subject for five days. Our fourth “Week” will again be the first week in June, this time looking at architecture, its history, the potential as a profession, the materials used, etc.

I have also been on the advisory board for the Wisconsin Gerontology Institute, which also meets at UW-Parkside, and holds its spring conference the first part of June, usually conflicting with WSSA’s conference.

The experiences I had with WSSA have been wonderfully helpful in these new activities. Knowing how boards and committees work has been useful, and will be even more so next year. Thanks to WSSA and to all of you who made my experiences possible. We have learned that it is wise, and most helpful, to go straight to the top when looking for speakers or when coping with problems. And that the potential guests with a the most impressive credentials are often the nicest people to deal with.

A couple pieces of personal information: After 20+ years of living in a condominium, we bought a ranch-style house two years ago, and thoroughly enjoy working in the yard. The other addition is my beard which began last Christmas while visiting our daughter and son-in-law near Rochester, MN (forgot my razor and opted not to buy another one!) The beard is mostly white – I’m having fun with it!

So, you see, we have become involved in activities that have precluded much active involvement in WSSA. However, we do follow what is going on, and appreciate the newsletters. In retrospect, the experiences I had in WSSA have helped lay the groundwork for what I am doing in these other organizations. Learning certainly builds on learning. And that is what ALL is all about! So, Thanks, WSSA!

willing to put into the organization.

Given the numerous and sweeping changes that have occurred, are occurring, and will continue to occur, in the Social/Human Services field, we are in constant need of additional training and training resources. We can each name our own personal nightmare when it comes to changes that we have experienced, as it is human nature to feel uncomfortable about and resist change. Eventually, with training and repetition, we adjust to change and continue to perform our jobs to the best of our abilities. I feel that WSSA offers some of the best and cheapest training/learning opportunities that are available anywhere.

Where do I end? I would like you to direct any and all concerns you may have to other members of the Executive Committee. "WSSA is not responsible for the last statement this person made as it was his own attempt at humor." I do ask that you contact me with your concerns, questions and comments. I know I do not have all the answers but I promise to try to find an answer and contact you back. I look forward to next year's Annual Conference and wish everyone the BEST in their pursuits this coming year and in the future.

INTERESTED IN SERVING ON A COMMITTEE?

The Operations Committee is hard at work looking to recruit interested members in serving WSSA on committee assignments. Anyone interested in serving on any of the 9 committees (Economic Support, Long Term Support, County/State/Legislative, etc.), contact the WSSA President, Jim Bestul at (715) 743-5233, e-mail james.bestul@co.clark.wi.us or Helain Andersen at (262) 638-6593, e-mail andacres@core.com.

Working on a committee is a great way to grow professionally and meet others who share your common or uncommon interests. Some of the many benefits from being on a committee include opening up your world to other ideas and problem-solving techniques that can benefit you and your agency. It is never too late to be involved. Satisfaction and results guaranteed. Just ask any member who has been involved.
